Encouraging Decline in the Number of New Cases and Beaths in the City and Suburbs-Only 76 New Cases and 26 Deaths.

Names of the Dead of Yesterday-Comparative Table of Deaths this Year and in 1873-Society Reports-Contributions from Abroad-Fever Flashes,

It is very gratifying for us to be able to report this morning a noticeable decline in the number of new cases of yesterday, which the Howard association reports as only 76, 40 in the city and 26 outside. The deaths for the same time, as reported by the board of health, also show a decline. The total is only 26, 19 in the city and 7 outside. This news, coupled with cool weather, will give our people fresh courage and insulte the hone that a few more weeks will release us altogether from the plague. Deaths Saturday.

It becomes my painful duty to announce the death of J. W. ANDERSON, our late heroic and worthy Sheriff. And, as the term of office of the Coroner has expired, our county is thus without its chief ministerial officer. Considerations of public policy urgently demand the filling of the vacancy within the shortest time possible. I therefore most earnestly and respectfully call upon each and every Justice of the county, who is physically able, to meet me at eleven o'clock Monday morning next, October 14th, 1878, at a point on the State Line road, six miles east from Memphis, and where the Raielgh and Hernando roads crosses said State line road, for the purpose of opening the October term of the quarterly court and electing a Sheriff of Shelby county. The point designated is comparatively central, easily accessible by leading thoroughfares, free from the fever, and a schoolhouse near by in which to mold the court. The County Court Cierk, or H. B. hullen, deputy, will also please attend with the Cinute book and requisite stationery. I appeal to each Justice seeing this call to make it his special business to communicate it to the Associate of his district, and I would thank every good citizen to avail himself of any opportunity presented to give this the quickest and fullest circulation throughout the county.
